Laying waste: Melanie Masson is leading the new wave of protest against the plans for Pinkham Way

By Kim Inam

A MUM is gathering an army of mums opposed to plans to build a waste plant close to seven schools in Pinkham Way.

Actress and singer Melanie Masson says she was dumbfounded by the plans to introduce a 15,000 square metres waste processing plant just off the already congested North Circular Road and close to several primary and pre-school sites.

The Bounds Green mother-of-two was spurred to speak out and call for a potential Greenham Common style protest when she realised her four year old daughter Rua will be going to a school within a thousand metres of the proposed site.

She told the Advertiser: "This is not about Nimby-ism. It's not trivial – this is something that's a threat to our children's health. This will impact on our children's children. They will wonder what we were thinking by building that there."

"So many mums have approached me to say they want to join the mums' army. If this plan is not scrapped, we will continue to demonstrate as much as we can whether it's a sit in, or we all stand holding hands or chain ourselves to the fences or bulldozers."

Mrs Masson admitted she has also questioned London Mayor Boris Johnson when he visited a high street store in Crouch End. She said: "He was responsive and he was quite shocked that he didn't know all the facts. He said he would take it up for me."

Pinkham Way Alliance member Colin Parish attended a briefing with Enfield Southgate MP David Burrowes at Broomfield School on Friday night, he added: "People went away quite fired up to respond to the consultation on the planning application to Haringey Council which comes out in the beginning of July and the North London Waste plan consultation.

"We want to make sure this plan is stopped. We know that land fill is not going to continue there's not the room."

But the plan says it will handle the same amount of waste for the next 30 years. It's not the right solution, there's no incentive to reduce the amount of waste as a by product fuel for incinerators to produce energy."

The site will handle 300,000 tons of waste every year from Haringey, Barnet, Enfield, Camden, Islington, Hackney and Waltham Forest and will see 560 vehicles going to and from the site every day. A spokeswoman for North London Waste Authority said: "The application is being validated by Haringey Council and will be made generally available once completed. The next stage of consultation with local people will be held by Haringey Council as part of the formal planning process. This will include a public Development Management Forum later in the year where residents can raise issues of concern. We will attend this and make a further presentation of our plans and answer questions."

Probe as 12 NHS laptops stolen

By Mary McConnell

POLICE officers have launched an investigation after 12 NHS laptops, one of which was used to analyse information about Haringey patients, were stolen earlier this month.

The laptops were reported stolen by health chiefs at NHS North Central London, which manages healthcare across Barnet, Enfield, Haringey, Camden and Islington.

According to officials, the laptops were password protected and the data, which did not include patients' names, was deleted before the theft took place.

According to a spokeswoman from NHS North Central London: "We currently believe there is a very low risk that any data could be recovered from this laptop or that patients could be identified from the loss of this.

"We take any potential data breaches very seriously and a full investigation is under way. "We are working closely with both the Metropolitan Police and the Information Commissioner."

Janet Shapiro, from Defend Haringey Health Services Coalition, said: "My main concern is that this could be as a result of the fact that staff at NCL are extremely stressed and run down.

"As the NCL takes over from the five primary care trusts, how are they able to cope with the workload?"

"The new body is much smaller but is looking after the whole NCL area – they must be struggling like mad and things like this are bound to happen.

"With so few people looking after the area how are they going to be able to deliver equitable health services across Haringey? That is what I am more concerned about rather than the confidentiality worries."

Car 'clocker' fined £3,000

A CAR dealer from Haringey was ordered to pay £4,331 at Highgate Magistrates' Court for supplying a car which had had its recorded mileage reduced by nearly 90,000 miles.

Mr Ashraf El Sayed, 33 of Wood Green, whose car lot was in The Hale, Tottenham, was fined £3,000 with costs of £1,331 for falsely describing the Mazda Antares car, breaching consumer laws.

El Sayed bought the three-year-old former driving school car from an auction in Scotland, with warranted mileage of 110,000 miles.

He then advertised it for sale at £4,300 with 19,000 miles on the clock. El Sayed claimed in court the disparity in mileage was due to his installing a secondhand dashboard which displayed the lower mileage reading.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, Haringey's cabinet member for environment, said: "The value of a car can change radically depending on its previous use and indicated mileage. In this case the car has had its mileage reduced by more than the equivalent of going round the world three times.

"Consumers have a right to be told all of the material facts about a vehicle when they buy from a dealer and I am very pleased that the magistrates have taken this case so seriously."

The maximum fine under the Act is £5,000.

Times changin' and Bob Dylan still rocks fans

By Lucy Purdy

FINSBURY Park became a mecca for thousands of festival-goers at the weekend as crowds flocked to see Bob Dylan headline the London Feis.

Irish rockers Thin Lizzy, crooner Van Morrison and reggae legend Jimmy Cliff also topped the bill at the festival which was founded by seasoned music promoter Vince Power.

Despite some showers, Dylan delighted fans with a huge songbook and trademark grizzly delivery when he took to the stage on Saturday. The line-up also included Christy Moore, Declan Sinnott, the Gaslight Anthem, Eddie Reader, the Waterboys, Shane MacGowan, the Cranberries and the Saw Doctors.

Some fans were disappointed that Irish vocalist Imelda May pulled out of the festival just days before, with festival organisers citing "unforeseeable circumstances".

Feis is a reincarnation of Fleadh, which ran for 14 years until 2004. The Feis was been billed as being "Irish in flavour, international in reach" and saw music being performed on Saturday and Sunday across four stages. Organisers had to extend the festival by another day due to the artists interested in being involved.

...but freedom of borough bid is left blowin' in the wind

BOB Dylan has been refused the honour of being given the freedom of Haringey to mark his seventieth birthday.

Keith Flett, of Haringey Trades Council, had put forward the suggestion to mark the singer and songwriter's birthday on May 24. Dylan has performed in Haringey regularly during his career and headlined the London Feis in Finsbury Park on Saturday.

The singer, whose hits include Blowin' In The Wind, The Times They Are A'Changin' and Like A Rolling Stone, also performed in Finsbury Park in 1993 and 2004 and is said to visit Haringey frequently to see his friend, Eurythmics guitarist Dave Stewart.

A council spokesman said: "We are grateful for Mr Flett's suggestion, but the freedom of the borough is usually reserved for individuals who have made an outstanding contribution to life in the borough."

Under the Local Government Act of 1972, councils may admit people who have "rendered eminent services to the borough". Mr Flett urged councillors to rethink the decision.

He told the Advertiser: "We will all have different dates for when Dylan finally "sold out" but as his memoirs, Chronicles, make clear he is a lifelong trade unionist. Giving him the freedom of the borough on his 70th birthday would be a nice and timely way to mark his long standing links with Haringey."

Haringey has only awarded the freedom of the borough four times since 1965 to people including former Spurs manager Bill Nicholson and former Haringey mayors Mary Neuner and Maureen Dewar.

Cops box clever for kids' sport

By Lucy Purdy

YOUNG people were encouraged to channel their energy through the discipline of boxing to help them steer clear of a life of crime during an annual tournament at Alexandra Palace last week.

Some 350 amateur boxers from all over the world took part in the largest event of its kind in the UK last Thursday. The fourth London Open Box Cup is organised by Haringey Police Community Amateur Boxing Club which is run by police officers Gerry Willmott and Kenny Marsh and based in High Road, Tottenham.

The dedicated pair received MBEs last year for their efforts in coaching hundreds of young people since 1999.

Many of the young people who box there have been referred by the youth offending service. The club aims to help young people into a disciplined sport where they can gain confidence and feel better about themselves, steering them away from anti-social behaviour and helping them to realise their potential.

Davud Cinko, now 21, started boxing with the club aged 14 after he was referred by his school for fighting and getting into trouble with the police.

He said: "When I was at school I had an attitude and was fighting all the time. My school mentor recommended I go to the boxing club to deal with my anger issues and I have been here ever since. It keeps me busy and teaches me discipline and I have been to Ghana and Canada, opportunities I would not have been given if it wasn't for the club."

Event co-ordinator PC Marsh said: "The tournament is the biggest of its kind and we have boxers from all over the world who want to come to compete against our boxers."

PC Willmott, also a boxing coach, added: "Our boxing club gets young people off the streets and away from the risk of getting involved in crime. Being part of our club means making the right choices and rejecting negative influences, through discipline, self-respect and attaining a healthy lifestyle."

"Some of the youngsters that have come to our club, like Davud, were known to police for the wrong reasons and through boxing, they have turned their lives around."

You can choose what's hip for square

PEOPLE in Crouch End are being asked what "innovative" events they want to see in Town Hall Square in a bid to make it a "vibrant community hub" for the area.

A temporary relaxation of licensing rules means the square can now be used as a trading place or to host occasional or one-off activities independent of Haringey Council.

Whether it's a French or farmers' market, arts fair, sporting or theatrical event, wine tasting, or an antiques or garden event, people can offer their ideas. Other suggestions include holistic or well-being services, a literary festival, an occasional outdoor ice rink or a vintage market.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for environment, said: "Let's make this lovely location the jewel in the crown of Crouch End.

"As well as the more traditional offerings, we are hoping for some innovative ideas to celebrate the community, bring vibrancy to the area and reflect the distinct personality of Crouch End.

Open to ideas:
Town Hall
Square in Crouch End

"This is an opportunity for all to have their say and help shape the tone of the Town Hall Square area. Please get in touch and give us your views."

The trial period will allow for up to ten events to be held on Town Hall Square in the six months between now and Christmas.

Successful proposals will help establish the town hall square as the "heart of Crouch End" while bringing business opportunities that will complement existing traders, as well as being self-financing, socially responsible and within planning and licensing conditions.

Send your ideas or suggestions by email to: hth@haringey.gov.uk, write to Hornsey Town Hall Interim Uses Group, Room 1:15, Civic Centre, High Road, Wood Green, N22 8LE

Drink to a dose of the creative spirit

BRYONY has been getting drunk. Royally drunk.

She has been hitting the highest point you can reach before paralysis – just before you lose the use of your limbs and are incapable of speech. Technically speaking she clocked in at blood alcohol level 0.09. Not only that but she maintained that level for seven hours – all in the name of art.

"I drank vodka, because that's always the drink they suggest for studies of this kind, and I couldn't mix it with any sugary drinks, just diabetic orange juice," she said. "I had to be drunk from 10am and maintain that level of drunkenness, so I topped it up by a shot of vodka every hour."

Her name is Bryony Kimmings and she is a... performance artist! In preparation for her latest show, 7 Day Drunk, Bryony placed herself in controlled conditions and gradually increasing her alcohol intake over the week until she hit that eye-watering levels of sloshedness. Watched carefully by a team of scientists and a documentary film maker she has been examining the link between drink and creativity by working on this forthcoming show – a mixture of songs, dances and the spoken word – in different states of inebriation.

CHRISTA HOLKA

Lot of bottle: Bryony Kimmings' show follows a week of intoxication

"I like the looseness that drinking brings and the decisiveness of being hungover," she said, laughing. "Basically, I don't care so much when hungover and just do stuff – my brain works in a very simplified way!"

Dim alien adventure

Green Lantern (12A)

Dir: Martin Campbell
Starring: Ryan Reynolds, Blake Lively, Peter Sarsgaard

UPON leaving the latest superhero blockbuster derived from a comic book I thought... nothing.

The special effects filtered through 3D, the square-jawed handsome hero upon whose shoulders our world depends, the clichéd themes of father/son relationships were as meaningful as a superinjunction but far less entertaining.

First appearing in the All-American Comics 70 years ago, The Green Lantern Corps is a force of funny-coloured space cops who police the 3,600 sectors in the universe, overseen by an ancient race of immortals called the Guardians.

Most of the Lanterns are alien but over the comics' history there were a number of earthbound members of whom Hal Jordan was arguably the most popular.

So, it's Hal who is the chosen one for what Warner Brothers hope will be the start of one massive franchise, seeing how many millions they've pumped into the marketing. But the central problem with such a gargantuan budget is that very few risks are taken in terms of plot or character because executives are so worried about screwing up a la The Hulk which did take risks but failed disastrously at the box office.

It means every choice is safe and dull. From the script – classic good vs evil – to the choice of Mr Bland aka Ryan Reynolds as the lead character, to the crowd-pleasing 3D, right up until the incredibly annoying tag on the final credits which hints at a sequel, this seems to have been scripted and directed by a focus group rather than genuinely imaginative individuals with souls.

There are a few good points: the villains – comprising a freaky, sarky Peter Sarsgaard and a massive CGI smoky thing called Parallax – are excellent, while there are some good lines such as when love interest Carol (Blake Lively) takes the mick out of Hal for his lame green disguise which he's convinced protects his real identity.

Afterwards I caught V For Vendetta on TV. Now that's a proper superhero film from a comic book that's actually about something... By Jonathan Lovett

Now Showing...

The Beaver (12A)

Unsurprisingly, perhaps, Mel Gibson shines as a depressive going through one hell of a midlife crisis. Using a beaver puppet he raises himself out of the mire, but the world's dumb acceptance of this disturbed individual is even more bizarre than the Ray Winstone accent Gibson adopts when speaking as Mr Beaver. Quite ridiculous.

X-Men: First Class (12A)

Or X-Men The Wonder Years as we meet our favourite freaks for the first time. Not as bad as we feared, this James Bond-style action adventure takes place in the 1960s as Charles Xavier (James McAvoy) sans wheelchair or hair loss battles an evil genius with his new, best mate, Erik (Michael Fassbender), later to become Magneto.

Julia's Eyes (15)

In a race against time to unearth the truth behind her sister's demise, Julia has to not only battle villains but, her own fast-ailing eyesight. Yet another example of Spain's superior horror industry as Pan's Labyrinth producer, Guillermo Del Toro teams up with director Guillermo Morales to chilling effect.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. See that:
1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. Classified advertisements for goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, for the description of the publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'T' etc. in the advertisement.
3. Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or / day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or / day / dates specified by the advertiser but no day / date / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standard Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All amounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that have been allowed will be recinded.
(2) Recinded amounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement placed by the agent, the agent will be made liable to the publisher for the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional interruption may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the products or distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

LEVY: LUKA IS NOT FOR SALE

By Dominique Stafford

CHAIRMAN Daniel Levy insists that Luka Modric is not for sale at any price – even though the player has expressed his desire to leave Tottenham Hotspur.

Having rejected a reported £22million bid from Chelsea last week, Spurs were rocked when the Croatian international midfielder made it clear that he wanted to quit White Hart Lane.

But Levy responded by issuing a strongly worded statement where he claimed that he had no intention of letting Modric leave.

"I wish to make it absolutely clear that none of our key players will be sold this summer," Levy said. "In respect of Luka, we are not prepared to sell – at any price – to Chelsea or any other club."

"We made our stance on this issue abundantly clear in writing to Chelsea. They chose to ignore it and then subsequently made the offer public. We now consider this matter closed."

Modric has been a huge hit at White Hart Lane since arriving from Dinamo Zagreb three years ago and only signed a new-long term deal last summer, but he now appears to have decided that his future lies elsewhere.

"I want to leave Tottenham as friends," he said. "I have enjoyed my time there, but now it is right for me to look at another club."

"I have an arrangement with the chairman. When I signed my new contract he said that if another club came in to sign me then they would consider the offer."

"Chelsea are a big club with an ambitious owner. They have great players and they have ambitions to fight for the title and win the Champions League."

Manager Harry Redknapp remains hopeful that he will be able to persuade Modric to stay at the club.

"We have to show him our ambition," he said. "If we are looking to go anywhere, we can't be selling Luka."

"We have to do something about it and keep him happy and keep him at this club."

Meanwhile, midfielder Jamie O'Hara completed a £5m move to Wolverhampton Wanderers yesterday.

Win sees North London close in on top-two spot

NORTH LONDON moved to within six points of the promotion places in Division Three of the Middlesex County Cricket League after easing to an eight-wicket win at home to Indian Gymkhana on Saturday.

On a day when most other matches fell victim to the weather, a superb bowling performance from John Scanlebury put North London on track for victory as he took 8-47 to help dismiss the visitors for 116.

The hosts lost two early wickets in reply, but Mark Askew (52 not out) and Richard Hall (48 not out) ended any doubt over the result by guiding North London to 119-2 as they climbed up into fourth place in the table.

Meanwhile, Hornsey came agonisingly close to securing victory before eventually having to settle for a losing draw from their home match against Harrow in Division Two.

Martin Tucker (55 not out) and Anthony Murphy (50) led the way as Hornsey amassed 156 batting first, and they then reduced Harrow to 134-9 in reply – but the visitors' faster rate of scoring ensured that they picked up the four points.

North Middlesex also ended up with a losing draw from their home match against Acton, while Highgate's clash at Brentnham was abandoned.

Hornsey host Brentnham on Saturday, while Highgate entertain Harrow Town, North Middlesex visit Enfield and North London go to Harrow St Mary's.
